accounted and PROTECTED. PROTECTION against the slings, arrows and javelins of the enemy was the deciding element between victory and defeat. The chief element that decides between good and had health, is PROTECTION AGAINST DISEASE. We are all prone to be more or less lacking in the care of our health, and all too often overstep the bounds of resistance against disease, and find ourselves suddenly "checked up" and facing a "spell of sickness" that proper preparedness might have entirely prevented. Loew's Columbia-"Seventeen."

Louise Huff and Jack Pickford will be seen on the screen of Lowe's Columbia Theater the last three days of this week a picturization of Booth Tarkington's ebrated novel, "Seventeen."

William Sylvanus Baxter, the role played by Jack Pickford, reaches the impressive age of 17, has deluded himself into believing that he really ought to shave and has renounced "women" for all time. But the arrival of Lola Pratt-Miss Huffand her tiny dog. Flippot, reduces him to the final stages of adoration and subjec-tion. Having become Miss Pratt's abject slave, William suddenly becomes violently conscious of the defects of his small sister Jane, who insists on trying to eat all the apple sauce, smears it all over herself and never washes her face.

This trying combination of love and dis-comfort combines to make for the screen a most sparkling episode and one which presents these most popular stars in characters especially adapted to their capa

Moore's Strand-Lionel Barrymore.

Lionel Barrymore, of the noted theatri-cal family will be featured at Moore's Strand Theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in "The Brand of Cowardice." It is a thrilling and dramatic picture dealing with the Mexican war, with many of its scenes laid in and around the bor-der. When the call to arms came the hero of the picture resigned his post in the militia. His sweetheart accused him of cowardice. To right himself in her eyes he joined a regiment of troopers as a private and by his bravery in a fight with Mexican bandits he shows the girl conclusively that he is in nowise a cow-

It is to be expected that the troubled political waters will be calmed by Nora Bayes, who will head the bill with a number of new characteristic songs in which she displays more than her usual personality and "pep." Donald Ganiard will assist at the piano.

The extra added stellar feature will be Charles Kellogs, the nature singer and woodsman, whose lowest note is higher than Tetrazzini's highest reach, Other numbers will be Fred Whitfield and Marie Ireland, assisted by Lew Murchock, in "The Belle of Bingvillic!" # PLEASES AT BELASCO

"Interior" Proves Best Offering of Washington Square Players.

The Washington Square Players at the Belasco Theater last night offered the second selection from their bountiful repertory of one-act plays and the program proved to be of even greater interest and merit than the one presented on the two preceding evenings. The shining quali-ties of sincerity, enthusiasm, and intelli-gence with which their work, both as actors and producers is invested, find their fullest effect in the current bill, which will be repeated tonight and to morrow. These qualities appear no morrow. These qualities appear not merely to make up for any lack of technical training to be expected in a group of amateur origin, but in a large degree to create the effect of such training by the short cut of inspiration.

By all odds the finest piece of work that the players have exhibited is Mae-terlinck's wonderful "Interior," a little play of the utmost simplicity of outline, imbued, nevertheless, with striking imagination, deep spirituality and compelling pathos. A peasant family is seen Belasco—'Merry Wives of Windsor.' through great windows sitting at peace.
